'No Night Whistling By Trains' By-Law Gets Third Reading

Newmarket High School Class Visits Town Council To See Public Business Conducted

Harold C. Garatt, of the Newmarket high school teaching staff, and a group of students were observers at a Newmarket town council meeting on Monday evening.

Reeve Fred A. Lundy, as chairman of the committee of the whole

eph. Vale suggested "H.M.S. 'N.H.S.'"

Deputy-Reeve A. D. Evans and Councilor Wm. Dixon, taking up Dr. Dale's suggestion, moved that a prize of $5 be awarded to the student suggesting the best name. This was carried.

When the no-whistling-by-trains-at-night by-law came before the town council for third reading Councillor Joseph Vale suggested

"This is a surprise," said Dr. Dales. "We are usually much neglected. About the only time the public takes an interest in us is about election time and not much then."

"Mr. Garrett is to be congratulated," said Dr. Dales, "for the fact that the opinions of the students would be interesting."

"There is a lot of difference of opinion," said Mr. Vale. "Those who live close to the railway tracks are in favor of the by-law. Those farther away think perhaps there might be some other way."

lated. If you feel like taking part in the discussion this evening, just put up your hand. We will be glad to hear from you. We can always listen. You will see that our meetings are simply conducted and democratic."

Later in the evening Dr. Dales suggested that the council refer the problem of a name for a Canadian warship to the students. N. L. Mathews, K.C., clerk and solicitor, explained that the name had to be geographical, and not a family name, but that it could not be "Newmarkett" because there was a ship of that name in the British navy.

One of the students had suggested "Phoenix," the name of our school magazine." Councillor Trevelyan said that he was not objecting by the wags-wags, I would say that anyone involved in an accident at a crossing would be responsible himself," said Mr. Mathews.

The council passed the by-law, and it will now go to the dominion board of railway commissioners for approval.

FIRE PREVENTION
WEEK THEMES

This is Fire Prevention week. Fire Chief W. W. Osborne gave The Era and Express the following fire prevention week information.

Approximately 2,800 people have been killed by fires in Canada in the last ten years.

The average annual fire loss in Canada for the last ten years is $25,800,000.

One-third of all forest fires are caused by careless campers and smokers.

The largest factor in basement fires is rubbish accumulations. Flaming grease in a pan on the stove should be put out by sliding a tin cover or plate over

It is patriotic to help avoid fires. The lives and materials saved help win the war.

THE GREAT ISSUE

There is not enough concern about what sort of world organization is going to follow this war. It is useful to talk about what Canadian economic and political changes there will be but more important still is the question of what sort of world organization will follow the war. It will not do to assume that Messrs. Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin will take care of that problem for us. We as Canadians should do some thinking and speaking on this subject, for we can plan a Canadian Utopia but all our planning and all our building can come to naught against the tariff barriers of other nations or even in another war.

We should not be satisfied with any plan that goes no farther than a benevolent alliance, among Britain, Russia, U.S.A. and China, to keep the peace. There will be no permanent peace unless there is set up some form of world government in which all nations and all peoples, including Canadians, participate, and which is more powerfully armed than all its member states together.

When France was about to fall, Britain was ready to unite with France and pool resources and empires. Later Britain was ready, according to the same great spokesman, Churchill, to unite with the United States. Let the movement toward the reuniting of the English-speaking peoples roll on like the Mississippi, said Churchill.

Though the crises that prompted those great statements have gone, the need is as great as ever for that same spirit of pooling of resources. Britain, Russia and the United States, if the world is to have permanent peace, must put into the pot all that they have, armaments, fortresses, and good-will. We in Canada must encourage our government, representing one of the lesser powers that is entitled to a voice in the settlement that is even now being shaped, to speak out, as Sir Robert Borden did during the closing years of the Great War, for a "parliament of man" in which even small nations will have a voice.

WHEN C.C.F. IS THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY

Fear that the C.C.F. will take away people's liberty to think, speak and write as they think is one of the obstacles which stands in the way of the semi-socialists gaining power. It seems to us that the C.C.F. has already won its economic argument. The depression, the C.C.F. and this war's gigantic production have convinced Canadians that the nation must give everybody a pretty fair break. That is evident from what the older parties are doing and proposing. The dominion government is discussing a system of family allowances which makes the late Mr. Aberhart's $25 a month dividend look not so crazy as it did once. Premier George Drew of Ontario talks of the province providing every child with equal opportunities of school and university education. That is splendid and that is right.

But there is other evidence that the C.C.F. is making progress—and of course it doesn't matter whether the C.C.F. ever gains power so long as it stimulates and forces the older parties to think in terms of the welfare of everybody, in terms of health, education, work, recreation and happiness for all citizens. This other evidence is that much of the reply to the C.C.F. now is, not that the C.C.F.'s schemes are impossible but that semi-socialism would mean semi-slavery, that with government interfering more and more in business people would lose their freedom of thought and speech. It is said too that the C.C.F. could not alternate in power with a capitalist party and that the C.C.F., once it gained power, would see to it that no other party gained power again.

The attack sounds plausible, and we think it is up to the C.C.F. to give a little more thought and discussion to its political aims. How does it propose to give the increasing number of government employees freedom of speech, thought and political action? How does it propose to protect the freedom of the press? The freedom of opinion? If the press now reflects too much the viewpoint of business men, how does the C.C.F. propose that the press shall not some day reflect too much the viewpoint of government? Talking to a C.C.F.er the other day, we found him quite confident of the democratic intentions of the C.C.F. If he thought that the C.C.F. intended to operate one-party government, he said, he would not be in the C.C.F. Quite logically he said that if the C.C.F. attempted to eliminate other parties, it would find opposition springing up within itself which it would have to eliminate, and so on. And he said, if the C.C.F. were to use undemocratic methods against the other parties, it would in turn find undemocratic methods used against itself. He foresaw the day when the C.C.F. would be the conservative party, and a more radical party, perhaps the Communist party, would be its chief rival for power.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

(Fort Erie Times-Review)

Perhaps the most frequently-heard explanation for the astonishingly large vote rolled up by the C.C.F. party in the recent Ontario election is that it was largely a protest against both of the old-established parties. But, even after making due allowance for those electors who voted to "turn the rascals out" rather than to put the C.C.F. party in, everyday contacts should be sufficient to convince anybody but an extreme partisan that radicalism is growing in this country.

Today, a very large segment of public opinion leans towards the idea of more and more government-owned enterprises; towards the invasion by the government into fields of business which hitherto have been cultivated and developed by private capital and management. Extremists (and their number grows) who subscribe to this school of thought would have the government take over all manufacturing plants, mines, packing-houses—all those establishments which they lump together as "the means of production"—and run them as publicly owned utilities.

Yet among these very people are some of the most severe critics of the operations of such institutions as the Bank of Canada, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and other government properties. The common complaint is that they are all politically controlled and constantly subjected to partisan interference. But are politics and partisanship likely to change overnight—or in many generations, for that matter?

There is no evidence to support the belief that, if they were taken over by the government, industries now in the realm of private endeavor would be immune from the inefficiencies and other evils of the patronage system which now bedevil those enterprises that are already in the hands of the government.

SAUCE FOR THE GANDER

(Fort Erie Times-Review)

Finance Minister James L. Isley, like most of his colleagues at Ottawa, misses few opportunities in his public pronouncements to warn the people of Canada that to win the war they must tighten their belts, and make other sacrifices—meanwhile submitting without complaint to the highest taxation in the nation's history. Married men earning as little as $25 a week have $1.20 tax taken out of that meagre pay-envelope before they get it. Mr. Isley evidently believes that the remaining $23.80 is sufficient for a lower-paid worker to keep himself, his wife and a home in these perilous times. Moreover, he is exhorted to buy war savings stamps regularly besides. Willy-nilly, the little man is going to pay his share of the cost of the war—Mr. Isley has seen to that.

In fact, workers in the lower income-brackets sometimes wonder if they are not being compelled to bear more than their fair share of the burden. They know, or can easily discover, that Hon. James Lorimer Isley receives an annual salary of $10,000 as minister of finance, in addition to his $4,000 indemnity as a member of parliament—all of which is subject to income tax. But on top of that $14,000 he, and each member of Mr. King's cabinet, is allowed $2,000 a year in lieu of an automobile. That seems like a very generous allowance for the operation of an automobile—and it is not subject to income tax! In the case of Mr. Isley, who, we understand, does not own a car, it is especially liberal.

When the minister of finance makes this so-called automobile allowance subject to income tax, so that the whole $16,000 a year received by members of the cabinet is taxable, his precepts about the necessity for everybody to make sacrifices may sound more convincing.

Of a crew of 147 on the Canadian destroyer St. Croix, one survivor remains to tell the story. Five officers and 76 men surviving the sinking of the St. Croix, were picked up by a British frigate which was later torpedoed leaving one sole survivor of the destroyer St. Croix. A nephew and namesake of Premier King, Surgeon-Lieut. William Lyon Mackenzie King, was one of those lost.

Of People And Things

WEDDINGS

By Isabel Inglis Colville

What does a wedding mean to you—I mean when you are an on-looker, not a participant?

Is it just a pretty spectacle or is it something solemn and lovely, with a tiny bit of pathos—so much is promised and anticipated, and the years are bound to bring some sadnesses and trials to test the strength of the bond, and if met in the right way, to make each anniversary, a day of thanksgiving.

All this rushed through my mind as I watched the marriage ceremony, which waited in a beautiful garden, and Douglas Stewart Harrison, in the bonds of matrimony at the Pine Orchard Union church, on Wednesday, Sept. 29th, the anniversary of the marriage of the bride's parents.

I've always held it's a foolish thing to weep at a wedding, but sometimes a stray tear will come, and this time it did, for I couldn't help thinking of the first time I saw the bride, when she was exactly a week old, and now all these years had flown over us, and she was coming down the aisle on her father's arm to be married.

And she was a dainty and lovely bride in her white silk jersey gown. Her halo headdress of tulle and ostrich tips was sent from England by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Douglas Sheridan, who had worn it not so long ago, at her own wedding.

The bridesmaids, Miss Harrison, sister of the groom, and the bride's sister, Miss Ethel Sheridan, were gowned, respectively, in heavenly blue and blush rose silk jersey gowns and wore matching petal bandeaus. All wore beautiful corsage bouquets of sunset roses and bouvardia.

Mr. John Sheridan, brother of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were Raymond and Howard Haines, Snowball.

The church looked as if a bit of autumn loveliness had crept in to see the wedding, for the flowers were lovely. The Rev. J. A. Koffend of Newmarket, performed the wedding ceremony and Mrs. Albert Ridley played the wedding march.

This being an ex officio account of the wedding, I'll let you, my reader, in on a secret, or near secret.

The day before the wedding Mrs. Ridley and I were practising "Because," which I was to sing dur-

ZEPHYR BOY WEDS

UXBRIDGE GIRL

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 2, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Lee, Uxbridge, when their only daughter, Aileen, became the bride of Floyd Denton Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chesley Clark, Zephyr.

Rev. J. E. Ferguson of Zephyr United church performed the ceremony, under an arch of autumn leaves, and standards of gladness, ferns and other autumn flowers formed the background for the bridal couple. The wedding music was played by Miss Eva Dike.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor-length gown of ivory sheer with shoulder-length veil and a head-dress of orange blossoms. Her cascade bouquet was of roses, bridal wreath and bouvardia.

The bride was attended by Miss Elda Cox as bridesmaid, wearing a floor-length gown of fuchsia brocade taffeta with matching shoulder-length veil and flowered head-dress. Her cascade bouquet was similar to that of the bride. Ivan Clark was his brother's best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held. The bride's mother received with the bridal couple, attired in an air force blue crepe dress with matching accessories, and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother assisted in a Queen's blue crepe dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses. There were about 70 guests present.

The groom's gift to the bride was a lovely locket, to the bridesmaid a bracelet and to the best man a leather billfold.

For a trip to Niagara the bride donated an ensemble of British tan and brown with matching accessories.

The bride is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Shillinglaw, Mount Albert. The groom is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clark, Prospect St., Newmarket.

There was a good turn-out to hear Mrs. Althea Coley, Vancouver, author and lecturer, give her illustrated lecture on "London Calling." Gathering the Sport Facts

Once again October is in our midst. October seems to be the month when the frost appears on the ground and also the month when the World Series starts. This war year is no exception and when this column goes to press the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals will be locked in a life or death struggle for the supremacy of the baseball world.

Just to keep the record straight we're going to give our readers some of the facts and figures of previous series. Here they are.

If the New York Yankees capture the 1943 classic, Bill Dickey will have played on more winning teams than any other man. Right now Bill has played an equal number of games with Lou Gehrig and Babe Ruth. A win for the Yankees this year would put him on top all by himself.

The big Yankee catcher also carries with him into the series seven other marks. He is tied for most times at bat in one game with six; at bat in one inning, twice; runs batted in game, five; singles, four in one game; chances accepted by catcher, 36 in a four-game series; seven singles in a four-game series; and catcher in five different four-game series.

Only two men have hit home-runs with the bases loaded in World Series competition. They were Elmer Smith of Cleveland and Tony Lazzeri of the Yankees. Elmer Smith performed his base clearing shot in the 1920 classic between Brooklyn and Cleveland. The series was tied at two victories apiece when Smith came up with the bases loaded and knocked one of Burleigh Grimes' spitters over the right field fence of League Park in Cleveland.

In the same game, the only unassisted triple play in Series history took place. Bill Wambagans of Brooklyn was the man who pulled off the play. Wambagans was playing centrefield. He picked a line drive out of the air and then ran in towards the infield, touching second base to double a man off there, then he ran towards first and touched the man coming from that base. Clarence Mitchell, the man who hit into the triple play, in the next time at bat hit into a double play. He set a record by being the cause of five outs in two successive times at bat.

This year's World Series will be the 40th played between the pennant winners of the National and American Leagues, since the Boston Red Sox and the Pittsburgh Pirates started it in 1903. After trailing in the early years of the event, the American League jumped ahead in 1912, and since then has never been headed. At the present time they have won 24 series titles against 15 for the National. The American has won 126 games against 96 for its opponents.

The present series will be the fourth between the Cardinals and the Yankees. The Red Birds is the only National League club with an edge over the Yankees. St. Louis won the 1926 and 1942 series. The Yanks took the 1928 one. Strangest part of all the series facts is the statement that it isn't one of the active players who has been in the most World Series.

Art Fletcher, the third-base coach of the Yankees, has already dipped his hands into 13 Series grab-bags. Fletcher has pocketed over $59,000 in these 13 Series. This year's helping promises to be the richest. Detroit Tigers picked off the biggest helping of all when they won the 1935 Series and collected over $6,000 apiece for their trouble. Not bad, over $1,000 a game.

Soldier Thinks War Is Building Canadian Unity

"Once more I wish to express to the Newmarket Veterans my sincere thanks for the 300 cigarettes I received from them," Sgt. S. A. Dow writes the Newmarket Veterans' Comforts fund.

"I wish I could thank each one of you in person, and we all hope the time is not too distant when we may be able to do that very thing. After the way the Canadian boys dished it out at Sicily, we all took new heart and went about our work with more determination than ever. I am sure those boys showed the world that when the time comes the Canadian troops are ready and able to take on their share and come out on top.

"We are always hearing talk of the horrors of war, but there is one thing, in my estimation, it is doing for Canada that nothing else could, and that is for the population to get to know each other. By that I mean the people from one part of the country to know people from other parts.

"I don't know whether it is the same back home but over here we are always meeting fellows from different parts of the country, and after talking together for a while, get to know each other, and I believe that builds up a greater fellowship and unity and it is something that is going to count after the war, because we are getting to know each other and our country better."

"Cigarettes are as hard to get as fish in a dry creek at home," Spr. E. Thompson writes in a card of appreciation to the Newmarket Veterans.

"All of us over here can get along without most things we were used to at home, but when it comes to cigarettes we all want good old Canadian cigarettes," Mr. Jack Revill says in a note of appreciation to the Veterans.

York's Young Plowmen
Seek Eckardt Trophy

The home plowing competition sponsored by the York County Junior Farmers for the past 20 years will be carried on again this year as usual. Agricultural Representative W. M. Cockburn, Newmarket, who manages the competition for the association, states that there have been no changes in the rules from previous years and that the family of the late A. J. H. Eckardt has again offered an Eckardt trophy.

Prize lists are now being prepared and will be mailed to all former contestants. Anyone else desiring a copy should write the department of agriculture, Newmarket, or get in touch with the secretary of any of the York County Junior Farmer clubs.

RAVENSHOE

Ravenshoe anniversary services were well attended on Sept. 25. Rev. C. E. Fockler delivered fine messages both morning and evening at the United church. A splendid thank-offering was realized. The choir rendered fine music.

Rev. Gordon Lapp delivered a splendid message last Sunday for the Communion service.

There was a good attendance at church and Sunday-school.

Next Sunday, Oct. 10, a special thanksgiving service will be held at 2.15 p.m.

The weather is dry and the fall wheat needs rain.

Filling silos and threshing is the main work just now. It is a busy time but splendid weather for it.

The grain isn't too heavy this year, owing to the cold, wet spring.

Mrs. Wm. King, Newmarket, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. King.

The Farmer and Nutrition

Canada's Official Food Rules, for health through nutrition, list eight basic foods—and the farm is the source of seven. Thus practically the whole program rests on the shoulders of Canada's million farmers.

For seasonal loans, for security of savings and for other financial services, many a farmer turns to the courteous and friendly manager of his local Bank of Toronto. It is our privilege to assist Canada's basic farming industry in its efforts to supply the country's wartime needs.

CHARTERED BANKS
of Canada keep abreast of the Dominion's expanding needs.

Six times since 1870 the Bank Act under which the Chartered Banks operate has been revised by parliament—six times in that period the activities of the banks have been carefully scrutinized by the people's representatives.

Every ten years the Bank Act has been thus revised. Each one of the six decennial revisions has contributed much to the evolution of the banking system to meet the expanding needs of a developing Dominion.

In 1934 the sixth revision of the Bank Act was made. Fifty members of the House of Commons made up the committee, which examined witnesses—among them bank officers, government officials and reformers—and studied exhibits filed by various individuals and organizations. Findings were submitted to the House, and later that year the Bank Act was revised in many important particulars.

Through democratic enquiry and decision, the Canadian banking system has grown and been adjusted to meet the needs of the people, providing a depositary for savings and a sound basis for Canada's free economic development.

For Growing Canadian Bacon-Type Hogs!

To make real profits from hogs, feed Quaker Pig Starter, and get them ready for market at 200 to 220 pounds weight at the age of about 5 or 6 months.

Quaker Pig Starter is built around oatmeal, and research farms have definitely proved that oatmeal makes pigs grow faster, develops big, strong frames, and increases resistance to disease. Because oatmeal is 94% digestible, there is less waste and pigs convert it into meat far more quickly and economically.

Scientifically correct, Quaker Pig Starter contains all the 13 ingredients required to give best results in developing strong, fast-growing hogs from the third to tenth week period. For finishing, after the tenth week, feed Quaker Pig Grower and the last three weeks put them on Quaker Pig Finisher.

AUTUMN WEDDING IS PRETTY EVENT

The home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Linton, Claremont, was the scene of a pretty wedding when their eldest daughter, Edith Elizabeth, R.N., became the bride of Raymond Oscar Stickwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stickwood, Sharon.

The living-room was prettily decorated with an arch of autumn leaves with bluebirds and baskets of gladioli and asters.

Rev. Ivan Kennedy officiated and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Stewart Stickwood, aunt of the groom. During the signing of the register Miss Mildred Linton, sister of the bride, sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a gown of white sheer with a lace bodice and a halo of white flowers and matching finger-tip veil. She carried pink and white gladioli and pink roses.

Miss Eileen Linton, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing turquoise sheer trimmed with lace and a white flower halo. She carried yellow gladioli and mauve Dutch flowers.

The groom's brother, Donald Stickwood, was best man.

The bride's mother, wearing a green crepe dress with a shoulder corsage of gladioli and fern, and the groom's mother, wearing a brown crepe dress with a shoulder corsage of gladioli and fern, received the guests.

The newlyweds left for a trip to the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, London, and other distant points. The bride travelled in a green crepe dress with black hat and black accessories and a dress-maker coat.

The young couple will reside at Claremont.

HOUSE WEDDING IS SEPTEMBER EVENT

A pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Emmmanuel Bowes, Maple, on Sept. 11, when her only daughter, Helen Catherine, was united in marriage to George Austin Rumble, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rumble, King. Rev. Mr. Cooper performed the ceremony amid a setting of pink gladioli. Miss Margaret Watson played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Ralph Bowes, wore a floor-length gown of white silk jersey made on princess lines. She wore a fingertip veil held by a halo of lace and carried a bouquet of red roses and white larkspur. She was attended by her cousin, Mrs. George Lloyd, in a street-length dress of pink silk jersey made on princess lines with a halo of matching flowers and shoulder-length veil. She carried a bouquet of roses and cornflowers. The best man was Fergus Lawson, King.

At the reception, the bride's mother received in a blue wool dress. She was assisted by the groom's mother in a blue crepe dress.

For the wedding trip to Huntsville and points north, the bride wore a chocolate brown suit with matching accessories and stone marten furs. On their return the young couple will reside in King.

DOWN THE CENTRE

MacLeod, Alta., in recent weeks, while out in Goodsoil, Sask., with the Mounted, is another former Stouffville star, Earl Clendenen, Earl, who was equally good in the field or outfield, was one of a trio of brothers who were outstanding performers in the Tri-County and York-Simcoe circuits for many years.

Orilla camp softballers were eliminated in the town league softball semi-finals of the Couchiching centre.
 Harold Beaudoin of Penetang-Midland, one of the best known tennis players of the district, is an active service with the army and stationed at Barrieffield, near Kingston.

"Scotty" Mair, in his first season
 as a regular in Beaches football with the navy, while he turned in a fine season in the field, failed to reach even 200 in the batting honors. "Scotty" is expected to remain in Toronto and perform for H.M.C.S. York in senior O.H.A.
 again.

Paul Knowles, who played junior hockey briefly with Aurora juniors but lacked something to stick with the team, altho' an excellent basketball and track and field star at Aurora high, is now a corporal at Orilla camp, where he is stationed with the armored corps. Brother Keith, more rugged of the two boys, now overseas two years, is thought to be in North Africa.

"Shiner" Davis of Stouffville,
 once leading umpire of the district,
 veteran of the last war and one of the biggest boosters the present
 service men have in North York,
 has been appointed recruiting
 advisor for Stouffville and district.
 If there were more men like "Shiner"
 Davis, and the boys at Stouffville, and Bill White and the vets at Newmarket, our service men would never be without fags.

Right now in most communities
 some organization or other is holding some affair to raise money for Xmas boxes for the boys. We cannot impress on all our readers just how important it is to dig just a little deeper this year. Victory may be nearer, but we have more boys overseas, more likely to go,
 and if you're beginning to notice
 shortages in such things as cigars, matches, gum, chocolate, etc., after four years of war, you can well imagine just how much such things are appreciated where for nearly the whole war they've been a nebulous quantity. Nuff sed!

With winter and hockey fast approaching, it may be interesting for some of you to know where the best authorities believe the word "puck" originated. The Irish game of hurley, as many know, was one of the forerunners of hockey and in a book called, "English as we speak it in Ireland," written by
 P. W. Joyce and published in 1910,
 the following data is found: "Puck,
 a blow. 'He gave him a puck of a stick on the head.' More commonly applied to a punch or blow on the horns of a cow or goat. 'The cow gave him a puck (or pucked him) with her horns and knocked him down.' The blow given by a hurler to the ball with his caman
 or hurley is always called a puck.
 Irish poc, same sound and meaning."

So there you have the probable origin of the word puck from hurley, and while pucks will not be as plentiful as usual, sporting goods houses believe there will be enough to go around this winter.
 That goes for sticks too, but not for skates, pants, pads, gloves,
 sweaters and other equipment.

EIGHTY-FOUR FROM
CAMP GIVE BLOOD

(By Mrs. G. E. Case, Newmarket Red Cross)

A mobile unit of the blood
 donors' clinic of the Red Cross, with Mrs. Jackson, technician in charge, visited Newmarket on Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept.
 21-22. One hundred and four civilians donated blood on Tuesday, and a small number of volunteers were rejected on account of inability to locate veins
 and other similar reasons.

A number of donors have now contributed often enough to win the bronze and silver buttons but these awards are not being given lately due to scarcity of material and labor for their production.

The Red Cross wishes to thank all the volunteers for their patience in waiting their turn at what proved to be an unavoidably long session, and the factories and businesses concerned for donating the time of the volunteers.

Everyone who contributed in any way to the success of the clinic will feel amply repaid
 after reading the following article taken from a Toronto
 paper and headed "Outstanding Medical Discovery."

"That's what the army doctors told an American correspondent in Sicily. They said: 'Write lots about it; go clear overboard for it; say that plasma is the outstanding medical discovery of this war.'"

"The doctors are doing wonderful work at the dressing stations in the desert, says Godfrey Talbot. At one of these stations I've seen the men being doctored with extraordinary deftness and gentleness, and swiftness and cheerfulness. In one tiny underground cave in the sandy rock there were four men having blood transfusions -
 a German soldier, an Italian soldier, a British tank officer, a British infantryman.

"It is no exaggeration to say that blood transfusion on a big scale is one of the finest medical services developed in this war.
 It is saving many lives on the battlefields, as well as back at base hospitals, lives which would have been lost through loss of blood.

There has been accumulated in the Middle East a good reserve of human blood. The blood is bottled and stored; some of it is dried to be drawn on as required. There are advanced stores of this blood in the desert. I saw one at the side of a track. Inside the lorry there they had refrigerators with hundreds of large bottles of blood inside.
 Each bottle was classified and labelled.

"Ambulance drivers kept coming in to this blood bank with requisitions from dressing stations; each was off within two minutes with the precious life-saving bottle. I saw one man who had had 12 pints; he was going to recover. He would never have done so without such a service. As you think of the fighting troops think also of the stretcher-bearers, the ambulance drivers, the dressing station orderlies and the doctors. They are not called combatant troops, and yet they fight - fight for human lives."

The clinic Wednesday was entirely military from C.A.B.T.C.
 No. 23, Newmarket. It started off promptly at 8.45 a.m.
 Eighty-four donors passed through the clinic.

The technician, Mrs. Jackson, expressed her praise of the efficiency of the organization and said that the two clinics
 had been most successful.

ROCHE'S POINT NORTH GWILLIMBURY SCHOOLS LOSE PUPILS

As a result of the war the Roche's Point school now has 23 pupils in one classroom, compared with 90 pupils in two classrooms only four years ago. The reduced school population is a result of some breadwinners having enlisted and their families having moved elsewhere and of some breadwinners having gone into war industry and taken their families with them to industrial centres.

It is understood that Keswick school, which is about three miles from the Roche's Point school, has also experienced a drop in school population, although not so drastic as that at Roche's. There are said to be only about 50 pupils enrolled this year at Keswick's two-room school.

The baseline school, North Gwillimbury, is said to be in the low twenties, and Belhaven, which had as many as 54 pupils six years ago, has less than 40 this year. These two schools are among several in which married women are teaching as their contribution to the war effort.

POLICE COURT THREE ARE PENALIZED FOR CARELESS DRIVING

In Newmarket police court on Tuesday Magistrate W. N. Robinson imposed a penalty of $25 and costs of $11 or 30 days in jail upon Joseph VanWard, Wellesley Place, Toronto, whom he found guilty in police court last week of dangerous driving and remanded for one week in jail for sentence.

The defendant admitted being the driver of a car which was involved in an accident, on the fourth concession of East Gwillimbury on Sept. 18, in which two children were seriously injured. Besides the penalty his worship ordered that the defendant's license to drive be suspended.

Three cases of careless driving were heard by his worship. Each offence took place on Yonge St. and Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson laid the charge.

The officer stated that the car of Harold McPherson, Kennedy St., Aurora, had been involved in a collision with another car and had been badly damaged on the left side. Upon examining marks on the road, he said, he found that the defendant's car was on the wrong side of the road. He added that the other car had been badly damaged also. His worship imposed a fine of $15 and costs on Mr. McPherson.

Testifying in a charge of careless driving against John C. Quigley, Logan Ave., Toronto, Reuben Morning, Holland Landing, told his worship that he had been a passenger in his son's car on Sept. 14 when his son was driving north on Yonge St. in the vicinity of Holland Landing. He stated that upon nearing Brillinger's service station, the defendant's southbound car came "straight at" their car, forcing his son to turn on to the shoulder of the road to avoid a collision. He looked out the rear window of the car and saw the defendant's car strike a truck which was going north behind them. Asked by Constable Ferguson if the defendant was on his own side of the road, Mr. Morning stated that Mr. Quigley's car was on the wrong side of the road and that the driver of the truck had swerved to try to avoid the collision.

According to Andrew Wilson, Hamilton, driver of the truck, the oncoming car which was driven by the defendant had but one headlight. He said that he had to turn sharply on to the shoulder to avoid a head-on collision. He estimated damage to his truck at $350.

"What was the condition of the defendant?" asked Constable Ferguson. "He had a drink, I could get the odor of liquor on his breath," stated the witness. "But I couldn't say that he was under the influence."

Constable Ferguson said that the accident had taken place at 9:15 p.m. on Sept. 14 and that when he arrived at the scene about half an hour later, he found the rear part of Mr. Quigley's car definitely on the east side of the road. Mr. Quigley stated in defence that he had had a pint bottle of beer in his car earlier in the evening. He denied forcing any cars off the road or being on the wrong side of the road and stated that he thought that the driver of the truck was intending to make a turn into the service station at the time of the accident.

"It appeared to me in the back seat of Mr. Quigley's car that the truck came on our side of the road," testified a Mr. Delvin, when called to testify in behalf of the defence.

"In this case I must accept the evidence of the witnesses for the prosecution," stated Magistrate Robinson. "The first witness, who was an independent witness, said that his car was forced right off the road. He expected an accident to occur and looked out the rear window of his car. I was particularly impressed with the driver of the truck. Even under cross-examination by Mr. Evans, whom I consider a very good cross-examiner, his evidence stood up."

"He said that he smelled liquor but could not say that the accused was under the influence. I found him very fair. I must accept his story as the best evidence. He stated that the accused had one light on his car. The accused doesn't know for sure. He thought that he had two lights. Maybe he didn't know where he was on the road because of the one light. I must make a conviction but I'll make the penalty very low. It will be $10 and costs."

Harold G. McKay, Toronto, was also fined $10 and costs for careless driving.

According to Constable Ferguson, on Aug. 9 at 5:20 p.m., he stopped the car driven by the defendant near Bradford, after observing it fail to turn out upon meeting two other cars. He said that the defendant had been straddling the white line.

"I stopped the car and observed that Mr. McKay had been drinking," stated the officer. "I parked the car at a service station and informed the operator of the station to hold the keys of the car for an hour before letting the accused drive on. I asked the accused about drinking and he said that he had some drinks in Toronto. The two passengers in his car had been drinking also."

In his defence Mr. McKay said that he had had but two or three drinks before leaving Toronto and that he would not have been driving if he had thought he had been intoxicated. He agreed with the officer that his car was over the white line on the road now and then but denied that it had interfered with other cars.

"I'm inclined to think that the officer was very lenient with this man," commented Magistrate Robinson. "I am impressed with the accused in that he thanked the officer and didn't raise any objections when he was told to stay for an hour. I think that he was truthful. I'm going to make a conviction of careless driving. I am imposing a fine of $10 and costs. I usually impose a heavier penalty where there is liquor involved."

His worship fined four motorists $15 and costs for exceeding the speed limit: Alice B. R. Gooch, Burlington, who was timed by County Constable Ronald Watt in East Gwillimbury, and Robert Wm. Haggas, Hamilton, Elizabeth Gallagher, Toronto, and Nellie Nelson, Toronto, who were timed by County Constable William Hill of North Gwillimbury township.

A fine of $6 and costs was imposed on William E. Gordon, Toronto, who was timed in Newmarket by Constable Kenneth Mount.

Fines of $1 and costs were imposed on Arthur Lloyd, Aurora, Willard D. Grose, Sharon, and Malcolm Sedore, Island Grove, who were found guilty of illegal parking of their cars on Newmarket streets. The charges in each case were laid by Constable Mount.
